

ABSTRACT

A cable tie holder formed of sheets of flexible material joined together so as to make a series of pockets into which cable ties can be inserted, each of said pockets having a closable side opening at one edge thereof and a central 5 transverse slot, whereby cable ties inserted into said pockets through a side opening may be retrieved from the central slot.